

POLICE SHIFT TO BE MADE TUESDAY IS PRESENT PLAN

Men Will Be Kept As Near Homes As Possible With Efficient Distribution.

The change in the detail of police is expected to go into effect on Tuesday of next week. Superintendent Birmingham is now revising the list which he had compiled about a month ago but which was not put into effect owing to the strikes at that time. No changes will be made among the captains or lieutenants but a few shifts in the detail of sergeants will be put into effect. Superintendent Birmingham will keep the policemen as near to their homes as possible. The detail will be approved by the board of police commissioners at their regular meeting Monday night and will go into effect Tuesday morning.

GONDOS BROS. CONFESS, SAY N. Y. POLICE

Pernitzer banks. They accepted $2,000, they said, but before starting the campaign, they changed their minds, deciding Pernitzer was too powerful to be opposed. Therefore, they told the police, they asked Pernitzer to give them $2,000, which they were forced to return to his rivals.
Shortly after their arrests the Gondos brothers, according to the police, charged that Pernitzer was the agent here for the central powers and that he had furnished funds for the activities of Lieut. Robert Eay and others. Pernitzer emphatically denied the accusation and the police said no evidence was forthcoming to substantiate the charge.

Alexander and Victor Gondos, brothers, came to this city about 16 months ago, establishing a circulation for a Hungarian paper known here as "The Bridgeport." From a message start, said to have been made by Alexander collecting the news of this city, sending it to New York, where the paper was printed and his brother carrying on the circulation through the medium of a suit case and house to house distribution, they had worked up a good business.

Alexander with his family lives at 870 Hancock avenue. Victor lives at 88 Butler street. Both have been active in matters relating to Austro-Hungary and recently are said to have taken an active interest in labor matters through the publication of "Elores," another Hungarian newspaper of New York.

In the establishment of the Bridgeport Daily News their names appeared as publishers.

Alexander Gondos has admitted in local conversations that he is an officer in the Austrian army, a deserter in America.

Though rumors to the effect that Julius Pernitzer, president of the Trans-Atlantic Co. of New York, had a branch office in this city were current on the streets today, no authority for the statement could be found among the reliable Hungarian business men of this city.

Shooting Running Youth Brave Act Says New Havener

Superintendent Birmingham is in receipt of a letter from Captain Henry J. Donnelly of the New Haven police, praising the work of the local police in their capture of the bandit, Bosworth, who was mortally wounded in a running gunfight with a posse of New Haven and Bridgeport police a week ago Monday.

Captain Donnelly says that "the brave act will live forever in the minds and hearts of all policemen who read of the capture and the manner in which it was performed."

Detective Sergeant George Fox is also in receipt of a letter from the same source, thanking him for the service he rendered.

Board Had Perfect Right To Give King Contract, Says Ford

Theodore B. Ford, secretary and treasurer of the Burns Co., whose bid was lowest for the contract for the bridge, said today that his firm would take no action on the letting of the contract to John T. King by the health board last night. He said: "The board of health had a perfect right to let the contract to anyone they saw fit. Mr. King was lowest bidder on the five year contract. We were low bidders on the 10 year contract."

U. S. DIPLOMAT MUST QUIT BELGIUM POST

Washington, Nov. 10.—M. Deleval, a Belgian, employed by the United States as a counsellor to the legation at Brussels, has left Belgium and will not return to his post, because Germany has given notice that he is persona non grata. The State Department will not admit that Deleval has been removed but announced today that he had left Belgium and will not return.

Jennie B. Stevens Doesn't Like Choice of Administrator

Jennie B. Stevens, grandniece and one of the heirs of the estate of Albert Yale of Monroe, has filed a protest in the probate court against the appointment of Edwin C. Shelton as administrator of the estate. Mr. Yale left a farm in Monroe and some cash in Bridgeport Savings bank. It is estimated the estate will total several thousand dollars. Despite the protest Judge Miller has named Mr. Shelton as administrator and has William Clark and Oliver Blackman, both of Monroe, as appraisers. Besides Jennie Stevens, the heirs are: Harry I. Andrews, a nephew; Fannie J. B. Burt, a niece; and Clarence F. Andrews, a grandnephew.

WILL LOSE HIS JOB BECAUSE HE TRIED TO GET HIS BOSS'S

Braithwaite Reached For
Robinson's Plum Too
Eagerly, Says Gossip.

That Assistant City Clerk Frank Braithwaite attempted to procure the nomination for city clerk over Mr. Robinson, said of his chief, J. Alex H. Robinson, is said to be one of the reasons why he will lose his job when his term expires, January 1. There was small talk prior to the Republican town and city convention that Mr. Robinson ought not to get a re-nomination because he could not be elected. It was also said that he was in bad odor with many prominent citizens and tax payers because they were not accorded courteous treatment when they came into the office.

This talk has incensed Mr. Robinson and he determined Braithwaite must go. Today a number of Mr. Braithwaite's friends waited on Mr. Robinson and asked him to reconsider the matter. Mr. Robinson gave them no decided answer. The city clerk has changed the location of his office so that now he sees first anyone who comes in. The city clerk and his assistant only speak to each other now when there is some question of the business of the office to be discussed.

A lecture on the lungmotor, a patented artificial breathing device, and a demonstration of the uses of the same, will be given in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. at 9 o'clock Thursday night by Senior Lieutenant John P. Fox of the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps.

Much interest has been aroused in the use of this instrument locally because several people in Bridgeport have been resuscitated from drowning by its use, when other methods had failed.

Officials Upset, Coroner Does Not Probe Explosion

Because officials of the Union Metallic Cartridge Co. were upset today over the death of Frank Bell who was killed yesterday in the explosion of a fulminate mixing house, Coroner Egan postponed his inquiry into the case until 10 o'clock tomorrow. Bell was 30 years old and lived in Beardsley lane.

TOT FIRES BIN OF WASTE PAPERS IN SLOVAK PARSONAGE

Family at Noonday Meal
When Smoke Issues
Through Flooring.

A boyish prank in lighting a bonfire in the basement of the parsonage of the Slovak Lutheran church, Grand street and Madison avenue, threatened destruction of the building at 1:15 this afternoon and resulted in an alarm being turned in from box 372.

The women found the cellar ablaze, ignited from a match in the hands of five years old Ludwig Karlovsky, eldest son of Rev. L. J. Karlovsky, pastor of the Slovak Lutheran church. The damage resulting will not exceed $50.

The story of the fire as related by a member of the minister's household is that the clergyman just prior to lunch called his son into the study and asked him to empty the wastebasket filled with manuscript and old newspapers into the rubbish bin in the cellar.

Through some boyish prank the youngster touched a match to the well filled compartments of papers and when he saw the conflagration hurried upstairs shutting the door behind him. He was afraid to inform the occupants of the house of the fire below.

The family was seated at the table when a wisp of smoke appeared through one of the furnace pipes.

Young Karlovsky was the first to discover it and called the attention of his father to the smoke with the result that investigation was made and a call for the fire department sounded.

Editor Denies He Printed Affidavit to Discredit Judge

Denials by City Editor F. D. Bagley of the Evening Post that he printed a certain affidavit for the purpose of reflecting on Deputy Judge Wilder's character or his standing as a judge, featured the hearing in the civil superior court this afternoon of Judge Wilder's $10,000 libel suit against the Post Publishing Co.

This affidavit prominently displayed in the Post's front page told how Judge Wilder, Carl F. Siemon and several others had arranged a settlement with the widow of John DiMartino, who was killed by being struck by Siemon's automobile. Bagley said that at the time he printed the affidavit he did not know there was no truth in the story. It was said this story was originally obtained by a Telegram reporter, but was kept out of the Telegram, only to be used by the Post.

Editor Bagley was also asked about a communication printed in the Post and signed "Justice Be Done." He said he violated no office rule in printing the communication in which there was criticism of a judge. He presumed the signature of the article was genuine and the facts true. The taking of testimony in the suit was finished this afternoon and arguments were then started before Judge Case.

DR. HART ADVOCATES JUVENILE TRIBUNALS

Dr. Hastings H. Hart, chief of the Child Welfare bureau of the Russell Sage foundation, spoke at the dinner of the Men's League of the North Congregational church last evening. Corroborated by Rev. MacLaren Richardson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, the speaker denounced the present system of children's care in Fairfield, stating that it should be divorced from politics and their care taken from the county commissioners. Juvenile courts were again advocated.

DEFER PLANNING FAIR FOR BUSINESS MEN

FIREMAN'S BADGE IN JOY RIDE AUTO CAUSE OF MYSTERY

Fairfield Volunteer's Frontal
Adornment Dropped on Floor of Car.

Bonds of $10 each were forfeited in city court this morning when Mrs. John Smith of Parallel street and Mr. Andrew H. Carlson of 1987 Fairfield avenue failed to appear in answer to a charge of intoxication.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Carlson were passengers in a jitney car driven by Stephen Mahoney of 307 George St., which struck a dump cart driven by James Patterson, of Fairfield, at North and Englewood avenues last night. Patterson was hurled to the ground and received a fracture of three ribs, severe lacerations of his body, and a possible concussion of the brain. He was removed to St. Vincent's hospital where he is resting comfortably today. The charge of reckless driving held against Mahoney will be tried on Nov. 24. The case was continued today owing to the inability of Patterson to be present in court. Mahoney is released upon a bond of $100.

The women passengers hired the jitney for a "joy ride," at the junction of State street and Fairfield avenue late yesterday afternoon. From here they went to a roadhouse in the Fairfield Woods where they had a few drinks. They then journeyed to the Log Cabin Inn on North Main street. Afterward they collided with the dump cart.

The police have in their possession a badge of a member of the Fairfield Fire department which they found inside the jitney. They refuse to divulge his identity nor the number of the badge.

The Twenty-third Infantry regiment, now at Pensacola, Fla., was ordered to Douglas, Ark.

George Moriarty, captain of the Detroit American League team, was unconditionally released.

Quintal Has First Call on Firm Name That Another Wants

Mrs. Emma C. Peck of Pembroke street, this city, cannot use the name of the Bridgeport Mercantile agency although she has started a collection business under that name and spent more than a $100 fitting up an office and having stationary printed.

Charles Quintal has been doing the same sort of business under that firm title and discovered today that Mrs. Peck had reported to and opened one of his letters. He made complaint at the post office and at city hall.

Women Wish To Hear Congressman's Talk

So much interest has been manifested in the address of Congressman A. P. Gardner on "Preparedness and National Defense," before the Men's League of the First Presbyterian church Friday night that many women have asked permission to attend. For that reason it is possible that the Massachusetts congressman make his address in the church auditorium instead of a Presbyterian hall, depending on the attendance.

CHURCHES WILL HOLD JOINT VESPER MEETING

Another step toward the harmonious consolidation of the North and South Congregational churches will be taken Sunday when a union vesper meeting will be held. Rev. Richard L. Swain, pastor of the South church and the Rev. H. D. Gallaudet, pastor of the North church will address the meeting, which will be held at 5 o'clock.

TO EXAMINE PLUMBERS.

Harry D. Fitzgerald and John Dunn, examiners of plumbers will meet Saturday in the city hall to grant licenses to master and journeymen plumbers.

Revolutionary forces defeated the army of President Cabrera in a severe battle at Valle de Ixtatam, Guatemala.

Sitting In Door of Jitney Car Is Minor Violation

"When a passenger of a jitney is seated on the floor of the car and his feet are resting on the running board of the machine, is he violating the city ordinance which forbids passengers riding on the running board of a jitney car?" That is a question discussed in city court this morning.

Hall was driving a jitney west on Stratford avenue near Kossuth street at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A passenger was seated in the manner that was the cause of the discussion and Motorcyclist Policeman Liggins ordered the driver to stop his machine. Hall failed to comply with the order of the policeman and he was pursued as far as Stratford avenue bridge, where he was arrested charged with violating a city ordinance.

Judge Bartlett decided that it was only a technical violation and ordered a nolle entered, at the same time informing the jitney driver that if he was ever again brought before the local court on a similar charge a heavy fine would be placed upon him.

CRANE RIOT RECALLED IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

The story of the strike riots at the Crane Co. West End plant was told again in the criminal common pleas court this afternoon when Tony Maskowski's appeal from the city court was heard before Judge Walsh and a jury. He was charged in the city court with assault and breach of the peace and was sentenced on each count to six months in jail.

Maskowski denied striking policemen or making any disturbance. Policemen Quilty and Kane said they were rushed to the Crane plant early in the morning of September 2 last, when word was received that strikers were stopping employees from going to work. They saw Maskowski resisting the officers but didn't see Sergeant Wheeler hit the accused with a night stick, as was alleged. The trial was still going on this afternoon.
